EUROPEAN SOCIETY FOR MICROCIRCULATION

Aarhus (Denmark) // 24-27 April 2023

Dear Collaborators, Industry and Corporate Partners

We are proud to host the 2023 meeting of the European Society for Microcirculation in Aarhus next year. Microcirculation is currently attracting substantial attention as it becomes more and more clear how often the microcirculation plays a central role in various major pathologies including hypertension, diabetes, cognitive deficiencies, ischemic heart disease, lung disease, eye disease etc.

We are doing our utmost to assemble a great microcirculatory program, with quality presentations, time for discussion as well as for professional and social interactions. With an outstanding faculty of invited speakers already accepted to come, we will have three great days in Aarhus.

Plenary and symposium speakers include:

- Leif Østergaard, Aarhus University, Denmark
- Katrien De Bock, ETH Zürich, Switzerland
- Ylva Hellsten, University of Copenhagen, Denmark
- Stephane Laurent, Paris Descartes Medical School, France
- Ingrid Fleming, Goethe University, Frankfurt, Germany
- Holger Gerhard, Max-Delbrück-Center for Molecular Medicine, Berlin, Germany
- Charalambos Antoniades, Radcliffe Dept. Medicine, University of Oxford, UK
- Jackie Shields, Hutchison/MRC Research Centre, University of Cambridge, UK
- Anne Eichmann, Yale Cardiovascular Research Center, Yale School of Medicine, USA
- Wolfgang Kübler, Institute of Physiology, Charite, Berlin, Germany
