

The Second International Conference on Embodied Education

Danish School of Education, Aarhus University

June 8–11, 2026 · Campus Copenhagen

Practical Information

Dear participants

We are very much looking forward to seeing you in Copenhagen in a few days!

Where. The conference takes place at Danish School of Education ('DPU'), located some 7-8 kilometers northwest of the center of Copenhagen, at 164 Tuborgvej. On the conference website there is a link to Google maps of the campus site of DPU.

How to get there. The easiest way is by public transportation. It works quite well in Copenhagen. Go by train to Emdrup station. The B-line (Direction → Farum) stops at Emdrup every 10 minutes, located 7 stops from Copenhagen H ('Copenhagen Central'). The ride takes 14 minutes. B<sub>x</sub> (during rush hours) even faster. From the platform at Emdrup take the stairway close to the elevator-tower, turn left on the small bridge, and DPU is on your left hand, only 2 minutes' walk. Building A is the red and largest one – with an amputated tower. The registration desk is located on the first floor of Building A. All presentations take place on this (first) floor of building A. (Americans would say "second floor"). Signposts will guide you to the registration. During the conference, the registration desk will be open 9am-11am. If you arrive later, contact one of the student helpers ('?' written on their backs).

The conference officially opens Monday, June 8 at 11:00 am in Room 222 ('Festsalen').

The evening reception Monday, June 8, from 5:00 pm - 6:30 takes place on the ground floor of building A (and/or outside A, in the sort of small amphitheater (cavea)).

Important note for presenters. Individual presentations have 30 minutes, workshops 45, and round table sessions 90 minutes at their disposal – including time for discussion, questions/answers. Our rule of thumb is that a speaker spends 20-23 minutes on an individual presentation, and the remaining time for discussion. For workshops, leave 10 minutes for discussion; for round table sessions 20 minutes for discussion. Beyond this, we have no specific formats in mind for the presentations. Please note: If you use a laptop, you should bring your own, thank you! We have no available laptops in the auditoriums.

All auditoriums, however, are fully equipped for easy connections to the screens installed in the rooms (for PowerPoints etc.). Flip overs and speed markers are available in all auditoriums. Also, friendly (and patient) technical staff is nearby – just in case. Room setups are flexible. For workshops, chairs and tables can be rearranged as needed.

Be mindful that the audience is mixed between different professions, academic scholars, artists, educators – and more. This is part of the conference's identity and spirit, as it was at the first conference back in 2024. Be aware of these facts if you e.g. apply (very) technical expressions – they might stand in need for a bit more explanation.

The chairpersons. We take the liberty to kindly ask the first presenter of each parallel session (in the individual presentations as well as in workshop presentations) to be the chairing person of the remaining one or two presentations in that session. This first presentation should be chaired by the second presenter of that session.

The rules of thumb for the chairperson:

- Introduce yourself and the presenter.
- Do not let things overrun - timing is important to ensure that a meeting runs smoothly.
- Communicate how much time is left to the presenter.
- Keep control of the question-and-answer part.
- Time keeping is vital, so do not be afraid, if necessary, to move on without questions/without all questioners being heard.

The catering. Hopefully good. Lunch is served at ground floor level of building A. Important note for all: If you have not ordered vegetarian food, lactose free food, or expressed other special dietary considerations, please leave this food for those who have, thank you. Coffee, tea (and other refreshments) are served in the areas in front of Auditorium 222.

The use of paper. We have cut down on the use of paper at this conference. Therefore, no paper program or abstract book (139 pages) will await each participant at registration:

Conference programme and abstract book are available from the conference website.

We wish you a splendid conference.

Most respectfully,

Oliver, Dag, Denis
